Dr. June Evans Memorial Projectile Point/Lithic Workshop

Thursday, March 15, 2018
1:00-4:00pm

This workshop will examine projectile point typology and lithic technology in the Middle Atlantic Region from North Carolina to Pennsylvania. The panel of lithic experts will discuss topics including changes in lithic technology through time, assembling projectile point type collections, and regional variation in lithic tool kits, among other topics. There will also be a hands-on portion of the workshop where projectile point type examples will be available for examination and specific questions about lithic tools will be answered, so be sure to bring any lithic tools that have stumped you.

This year's workshop is dedicated to Dr. June Evans. June was a very active and well respected long-time member of MAAC. She taught at American University and in 1990 began teaching at Millersville University where she held regular field schools in archaeology and was very supportive of students. In the 1980s she chaired a committee to establish a standardized projectile point typology for the Middle Atlantic Region. She and Jay Custer published on this topic in the MAAC journal in 1990. She is remembered as a very kind and helpful person.

The workshop panel includes:

Kurt Carr (The State Museum of Pennsylvania), Ed Chaney (Maryland Archaeological Conservation Lab), Christopher Egghart (Virginia Department of Environmental Quality), and Brian Overton (North Carolina Department of Transportation)

Participants will need to register for this workshop; registration is $25 per person. You must register by March 8, 2018.
